JUSTIN FASHANU

(Norwich City)

names his main rivals

HERE'S how the strikers stood at the top of the First Division scoring charts when Justin assessed his rivals.

- 15: Shaw (Villa), Fashanu (Norwich).
- 14: Archibald (Spurs).
- 13: Dalglish (Liverpool).
- 12: Eastoe (Everton).
- 11: Worthington (Birmingham), Robinson (Brighton), Wark (Ipswich), and Crooks (Spurs).

GARY SHAW, ASTON VILLA.

Justin's Judgement: Gary is very similar to Kenny Dalglish. He's playing in a good team and is putting away the chances. He has got off to a good start and I can't see him running out of steam. Match Weekly odds: 2-1 (joint favourite together with Justin).

KENNY DALGLISH, LIVERPOOL.

Justin's Judgement: Great player. My favourite to finish up as the First Division's leading scorer (if I can't!). The man's so consistent. Match Weekly odds: 3-1.

Frank Worthington

THE GREAT GOALS RACE

Kenny Dalglish

THE RACE for the title of First Division leading scorer is hotting up.

And Justin Fashanu, the Norwich and England Under-21 striker who has led the goalscoring chart since the start of the season, reckons that the top player could break the 30 goal barrier.

"There has been a lot of pressure on forwards to score goals this season and they have responded well — it wouldn't surprise me if we saw the winner get 30," said Justin.

"It would be great to win the race, but there's plenty of top class opposition against me and a long way to go yet.

"To stay in contention you have to try and average a goal a game and then hope to create a gap between the rest of the field by scoring two on occasions."

Here Justin names his top six rivals, and considers their chances of taking the crown of First Division leading scorer . . . and we give you our own Match Weekly betting guide.

STEVE ARCHIBALD, SPURS.

Justin's Judgement: Steve's more of a goal-poacher. He lives off knock downs inside the box. Back in goalscoring form.

Match Weekly odds: 8-1.

GARTH CROOKS, SPURS.

Justin's Judgement: Garth's a fabulous player — I rate him really highly. A creator of goals — he finds so much space. He and Archibald are a tremendous partnership.

Match Weekly odds: 10-1.

FRANK WORTHINGTON, B'HAM.

Justin's Judgement: An incredible bloke. His exceptional skill creates some marvellous goals. He is so experienced and knows every trick in the book.

Match Weekly odds: 12-1.

PETER EASTOE, EVERTON.

Justin's Judgement: Peter is enjoying a good season at Goodison Park. He's very skilful.

Match Weekly odds: 10-1.

Captain kid!

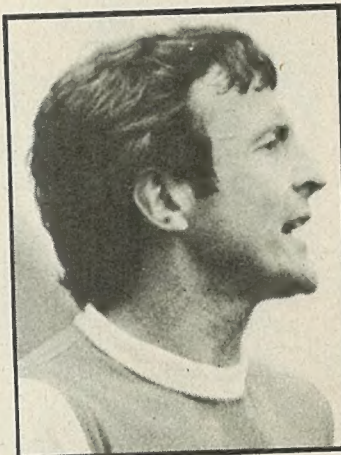

BRADFORD City raised a few eyebrows earlier this season when they appointed local-born centre-half Peter Jackson regular team skipper at the ripe old age of 19.

But Peter's a long way off being the youngest player to have captained a League side.

Arsenal's John Hollins and Manchester United's Ray Wilkins both led Chelsea at the age of 18.

And last season Andy Feeley captained Hereford United at just 17 years of age!

Below: John Hollins of Arsenal . . . became one of the youngest ever skippers when he captained Chelsea at the age of 18.

Pendrey set to leave Albion

WEST BROM's Garry Pendrey looks set to leave The Hawthorns at the end of the season.

Garry, bought from Birmingham for £30,000 to provide Albion with defensive cover, completes his short contract at the end of the season.

He has not been blessed with much good luck this season and has been out with a cartilage injury. During that time Albion have drafted in Barry Cowdrill and Martyn Bennett.

Garry said: 'I would like to think I could do a job for a club over the next two seasons.'

Did you know?

DID you know that Barcelona are the one "bogey" team among all the Continentals so far as Football League clubs are concerned in European Cup combat?

In one or other of the three cups all the following have been knocked out by Barcelona: Ipswich (twice), Wolves, Villa, Birmingham, Chelsea and Sheffield Wednesday.

Summerbee says 'no thanks'

FORMER Manchester City and England star Mike Summerbee resisted the lure of another F.A. Cup comeback with Northern Premier League Mossley.

After helping them to a giant-killing First Round win over Crewe, Mike opted out of the next game against Mansfield because he said he didn't want to let the team down.

He explained to team boss Bob Murphy that he was not fit enough to play. Without him Mossley went out 3-1.

Yellow card must go

WOLVES' midfielder Kenny Hibbitt labels the introduction of the yellow card system for referees "one of the worst things that has ever happened to the game".

Kenny told Match: "More and more players are now being booked for petty things."

"Football is a man's game but the yellow card system is taking that away from us."

"Decisions to book players are now being made too quickly."

"Once the ref's pulled that card out of his pocket that's it."

"In the old days when they simply used the book and pencil a referee had time for second thoughts as the player walked over to him."

"If I got pulled up I used to say:

"Look, ref, I'm sorry about that. It won't happen again" and quite often you'd just get a warning."

"I used to get on great with referees, even on occasions when I had a bit too much to say."

"You used to get reaction from them, but now you can't get close to them. We are so far apart now."

"Football's a hard game. It's professional against professional and referees must take that into consideration."

"Of course it's up to us to stop shouting our mouths off at referees, but it's got to the stage where you can't talk to them at all."

"I think the yellow card system has got to go and I think it will... hopefully at the end of this season."

SAYS WOLVES' KENNY HIBBITT

Above: Wolves' Kenny Hibbitt: "I think the yellow card system has got to go... and I think it will."

Super Cup return for Francis?

TREVOR Francis could make his return to the club's second-leg super cup match against Valencia... just as we suggested in the November 29 issue of Match.

Trevor's breathtaking skills have been sadly missed. Hopefully now he can steer clear of any injury problems for the rest of this season.

I'm sure football fans everywhere join everyone at Match in wishing Trevor "Welcome Back."

Above: Flashback to the Nov 29 issue of Match...

No difference!

ANDY Harrow, Luton's new centre forward signed from Raith Rovers in September, believes there is not much difference in the quality of the Scottish and English Leagues. He said: "It is just the fitness, the full time training, not much else." Oh yeh?

PROUD POOLE

THE proudest player to receive his trophy when Aston Villa won the Daily Express five a side competition at Wembley recently was goalkeeper Kevin Poole (pictured right).

Ironically, he was a bit disappointed earlier in the day when he had been over-looked for a Southern Junior Cup game at Fulham on the same evening.

But with Jimmy Rimmer and Nigel Spink both nursing injuries he was drafted in to the five-a-side team and won his first national trophy for Villa.

Villa scored 14 goals in the competition and conceded only one — yet another recommendation for Kevin's contribution.

Frank faces the music

BIRMINGHAM'S colourful striker Frank Worthington will be facing the music whenever he goes back to Manchester.

But Frank isn't in trouble with anyone up there — he will be dancing to the music.

He has just opened a night club in Manchester's Bridge Street, called 'The Apartment'.

PROGRAMME GUIDE

Norwich City

ON THE front of the Norwich City match day magazine it proudly declares: 'Voted the best programme in Britain for 1979-80'.

And certainly the 'Canary' is a bright, colourful offering to the Carrow Road faithful.

We looked at the programme for the recent game against Manchester United and for your 30p you got 24 interesting pages.

Although the magazine has colour background on most pages — many in the team's yellow and green — there were only two colour pictures.

There's all the usual tried and tested ingredients in the programme, such as manager's column, statistics, gossip page, and introduction to the visitors.

For the City fans with long memories there was an interesting feature on former goalkeeper Sandy Kennon — the regular keeper at Carrow Road before Kevin Keelan.

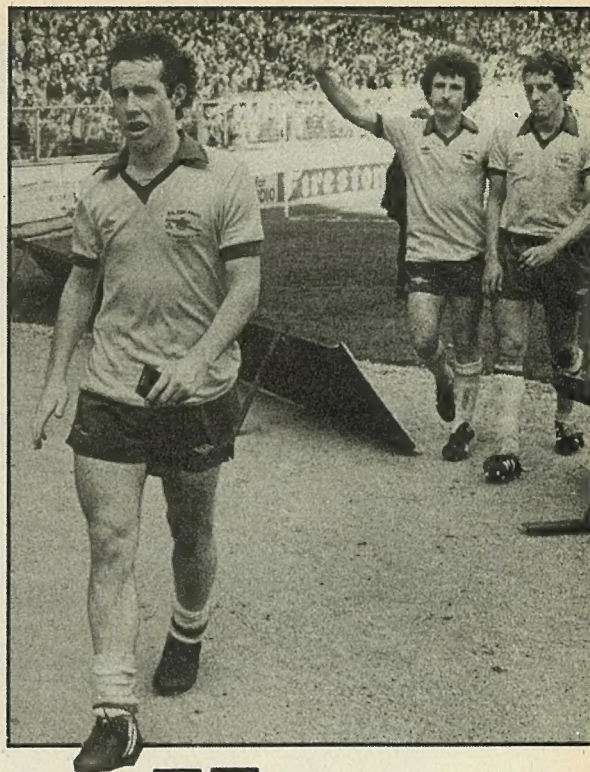

City's £1m plus rated Justin Fashanu was the subject of a 'Spotlight' feature and there were also articles by coach Mel Machin and a column from a local pressman.

Goodbye

CLIVE ALLEN didn't know whether he was coming or going in the close season of 1980. He went from Queens Park Rangers to Arsenal for £1m and then without kicking a ball in the First Division he was transferred to Crystal Palace in a swap deal involving Kenny Sansom.

THE WONDER of Wolves. 'Crazy Horse' Emlyn Hughes led the Midlands team to League Cup glory in March with a 1-0 win over European champions Nottingham Forest.

A picture focus on the main events of last year through the lens of Match photographer Duncan Cubitt.

LEICESTER ARE BACK! Jock Wallace guided the young kids of Filbert Street back into the First Division.

The Midlands club returned in style as Second Division champions... but they are finding life tough this season in the top flight. Alan Young is pictured celebrating a promotion goal last season.

LIVERPOOL became the League Champions for the second season running . . . Nottingham Forest brought back the European Cup once more . . . underdogs West Ham and Wolves lifted the FA and League Cups . . . six more players joined the £1 million clan . . . what a year it was!

Right: HAMMERS GLORY. West Ham beat their London neighbours Arsenal 1-0 to take the FA Cup at Wembley in May. Here the victorious Hammers team — teddy bear mascot and all — pose with the trophy.

1980 was a year of despair for gallant Arsenal. Beaten in the finals of both the FA Cup and the European Cup-Winners Cup the Gunners had nothing to show for their great cup exploits.

They also lost their magical midfield star Liam Brady to Italy's Juventus.

Following Liam off the field are team-mates Alan Sunderland (waving) and Sammy Nelson.

1980...

SHOCK of the year . . . Kevin Keegan stunned the football world by announcing his return to England to join Lawrie McMenemy and Southampton.

'King Kev' turned his back on the lure of Italian lira and quit SV Hamburg for the Dell at a bargain price of just £400,000!

Above: Liverpool go marching on. The men from Anfield took the First Division Championship for a record 12th time.

Although Manchester United made then fight for the trophy the Championship looked to have Liverpool written all over it. They also picked up the Charity Shield for good measure by beating Cup winners West Ham 1-0. Jimmy Case and Phil Neal are seen with the Shield.

WHERE NOW STEVE?

Manchester City's cut-price £1m man is looking to 1981 to get a new club and try to pick up the pieces of a shattered career.

Bought from Wolves for £1,150,000 in September 1979 by Malcolm Allison, Steve has been told by new Manchester City boss John Bond that he can go for around £450,000.

Learn from the stars on a PGL Soccer Holiday

PGL Young Adventure. The specialists and leaders in holidays for children and teenagers have joined forces with Kit Carson and Gary Johnson to produce a nationwide soccer coaching holiday system for players of all abilities between the ages of 8 and 18. It already has the support of top managers and international players. England's first ever soccer school was set up by Kit and Gary in 1975 with the help of Liverpool coaches and stars such as Steve Heighway. Since that time their C & G Soccer Club has become the biggest private soccer coaching organisation in the country. Players such as Trevor Brooking, David Johnson, Brian Talbot, John Hollins, Dai Davies, Steve Williams and others regularly assist and lend their support.

We provide a full programme of activities from arrival on Monday morning to departure on Friday afternoon. The boys are placed into groups, each with its own football coach. He is responsible for ensuring that everyone is coached to his fullest ability in all aspects of the game. There are matches as well as training sessions and indoor 5-a-side football, and if possible watching professionals train. Coaching films are shown in the evenings as teaching aids. A visit to the ground of a league club is also in the timetable, and if possible, an opportunity to watch the club's professionals training.

One afternoon of the week a star player takes a coaching session, a question and answer period and signs autographs.

The 30 courses at 7 different venues give everyone an opportunity to attend a course not too far from their home. All are residential with full board and accommodation so no travelling is involved each day to attend the course.

The courses are held in universities at Colchester, Manchester, (for the Liverpool and Manchester courses), Nottingham and Dundee. Southampton courses are at a beautiful centre in Swanage. Ipswich courses are held at the newly opened Eurosports village in nearby Shotley. Cheltenham's course takes place at Cheltenham College.

Many young professionals have attended these courses. Any talented young player and likewise those with only a basic knowledge of the game will really enjoy learning more about the game.

The Arsenal and England star writes for you

Goals galore at Goodison

THE CUP draw was just the lift we needed as we made our way home on the bus after being beaten 2-0 at Sunderland.

The excitement helped us forget about the defeat and made us look forward to another game.

Everton at Goodison Park is a difficult draw. And the way the draw has worked out means that we shall be travelling to Goodison on consecutive Saturday's — we play them in the League straight after the cup game.

Obviously we would have preferred a home draw, but we do have the bonus of knowing that we have beaten Everton once already this season.

They came to Highbury in November and were defeated 2-1 with our goals coming from young Brian McDermott and Frank Stapleton.

Although I went off injured at half-time I saw enough of them to recognise what a good young side they are.

I was particularly impressed with their winger Joe McBride.

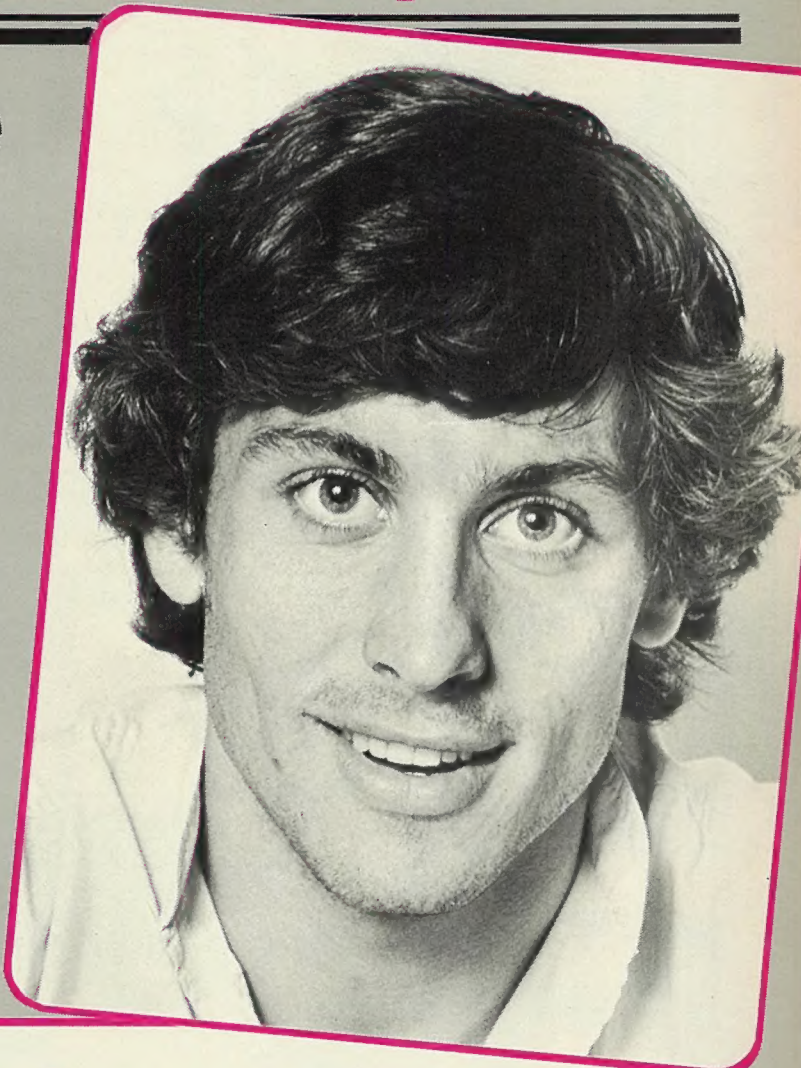

The first 20 minutes will decide what sort of game it's going to be. If we get on the scoresheet early then there's a chance it could be a cracker with plenty of goals.

A look back in the history books shows that we have met twice before in the Cup and those games produced a total of 12 goals.

If Arsenal don't win it this year I fancy West Bromwich Albion to have a good run.

They have slipped in the League recently, but if they can hold on to Bryan Robson they could cause a stir.

But all the First Division teams are in with a chance — I don't reckon we'll see a Second Division side at Wembley again this year.

Time for my cup luck to change

WHEN we got knocked out of the League Cup at Tottenham earlier this season the rest of the Arsenal lads told me: "wait until the FA Cup comes around."

And it's true that the competition generates a special atmosphere at Highbury. Because the Gunners have done so well in the past, the players are very confident.

Having reached the final for the past three years we must again start as favourites.

The players don't mean to change their attitude for the cup, but there's no doubt that it brings out something special in them.

By the law of averages I could have joined the Gunners at the wrong time. The odds against us reaching Wembley for the fourth successive year must be stacked against us.

But I can't wait for the cup to get under way and I am looking forward to a long run.

Left: Graham Rix trudges off the pitch after last year's Final. But despite being beaten 1-0 in May by West Ham the Gunners have a great record in the FA Cup.

Devonshire's cream

Alan Devonshire (West Ham) v Wrexham,
Division Two, Racecourse Ground, Wrexham,
November 29, 1980.

ALAN Devonshire, West Ham's talented midfielder player, has no doubts that his brilliant solo effort in the drawn match at Wrexham was the best of his career.

"The fact that I ran virtually the whole length of the field must make it my best so far," enthused the young Londoner.

And like most people who saw the stunning goal on television, Alan was surprised that there was no challenge until goalkeeper Dai Davies rushed from his goal.

Alan recalled: "I think we may have caught them a little cold after breaking up an attack.

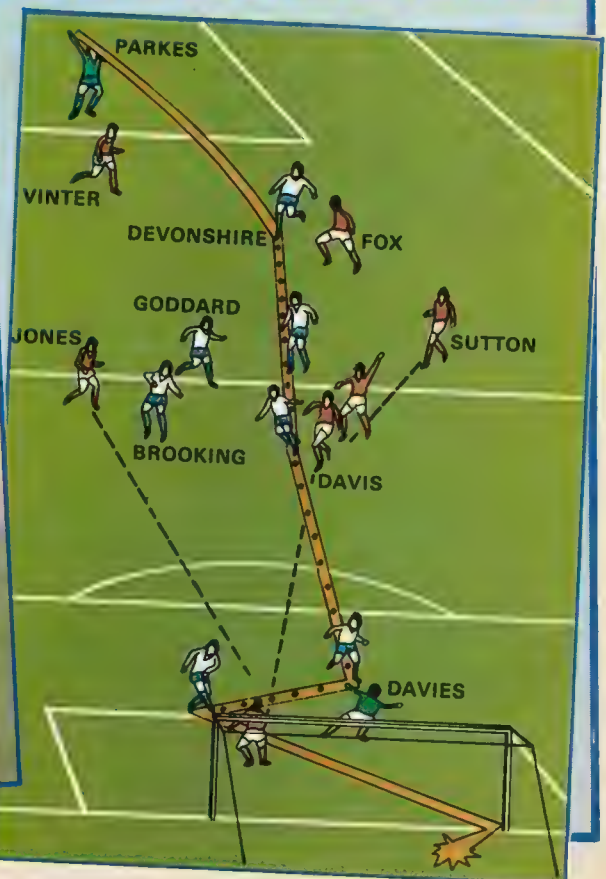

"When Phil Parkes threw the ball to me just outside our penalty area their full back hesitated and then the whole field seemed to open up before me.

"Our front men must take some credit for taking defenders away from my path but I was surprised to be given so much freedom.

"Davies came quickly from his goal to cut down my angle so I had no choice but to go round him before tucking the ball away.

"I enjoy running at defences but unfortunately I don't get that kind of room every week."

Match Weekly's survey reveals the safest 'keepers

MATCH Weekly continues its guide to the 'Safest Hands in Soccer' with a look at the goalkeeping records of the men between the posts in the Second Division.

WEST Ham's Phil Parkes is certainly justifying his tag as the world's most expensive goalkeeper.

For as the Hammers chase European and domestic honours, the towering frame of Phil is proving to be the biggest stumbling block for Second Division strikers.

The half-a-million pound 'keeper is currently leading the field in our survey to find the man with the safest pair of hands in the Second Division.

Left: West Ham's Phil Parkes (action and inset) shows the kind of safe handling that has put him top of the goalkeepers in the Second Division.

After 25 League and League Cup appearances for the Londoners he had conceded just 18 goals... an average of one goal every 125 minutes!

And in those 25 games he had kept a clean sheet on no fewer than 13 occasions, including one spell of six matches without conceding a goal.

At the time we put together our survey, two of the Yugoslavian imports and Oldham's Peter McDonnell were leading the chase.

Peter Borota, Chelsea's extrovert but highly competent foreign signing, had let in only 21 goals in 23 matches, while fellow countryman Radojko Avramovic was proving a tower of strength in Notts County's promotion push with an average of just one goal conceded every match.

McDonnell's 16-match spell in Oldham's goal earlier in the season yielded only 15 goals to put him in third place, sandwiched between the Yugoslavians.

FOOTNOTE: Match Weekly acknowledges the part played by defenders in establishing these goalkeeping records.

Peter Borota, Chelsea's popular Yugoslavian, is challenging Phil Parkes as the Second Division's safest goalkeeper.

Below: Peter McDonnell's early season spell in the Oldham goal yielded only 15 goals in 16 games to put him in third place.

Take a Second look!

THE first column in the table below shows the number of games played.

The second column shows the number of goals conceded and the third column is the average number of minutes' play between each goal.

For instance, Cambridge United's Richard Key has conceded, on average, one goal every 57 minutes so far this season.

Note: Only League and League Cup matches up to and including those played on December 6 have been used in the compilation of this table and only goalkeepers who had played at least ten games qualified for inclusion.

MATCH WEEKLY: DO YOU think it is still possible for a striker to score 30 League goals in one season in Division One?

BOB: Yes — someone will probably hit that target again. He'll need to get in his full quota of games, avoiding injury and sustain his form throughout the season.

He won't have to be a member of a successful team. Justin Fashanu is scoring a lot of goals for Norwich because they are geared to going forward.

MW: What is your goal target for this season?

BOB: As I've been injured my main target is to get back in the side. But once I've done that there's a nice little figure waiting for me.

So far I've got 106 goals for Everton and eight more would mean that I'd become Everton's second highest scorer in history.

Dixie Dean is top, but being second to him can't be bad and at least it will make me the highest post-war scorer.

MW: What is your best League goals total in one season and do you feel it is getting harder to score goals?

BOB: Thirty is my best tally and it was a nice figure because it carried £10,000 in cash from a national newspaper.

No — I don't think it's getting any harder to score goals. If anything it seems to be getting easier. Attitudes throughout the League are changing as clubs realise the need to entertain.

They seem more prepared to throw people forward and I've noticed that there seems to be more high-scoring matches than I can remember for along time.

Far left: Everton striker Bob Latchford.

NORWICH CITY's Justin Fashanu proves the point that you don't have to play for a successful team to score consistently.

MIKE

SPOTLIGHT on a rising star. This week Match Weekly talks to Manchester United's young England prospect, Mike Duxbury.

Far right: Directing operations during his England Under 21 debut against Switzerland is Manchester United's Mike Duxbury. He has grabbed his first-team chance at Old Trafford this season with both hands.

BOB LATCHFORD

BOB LATCHFORD — the last First Division striker to score 30 league goals in a season — talks to Match Weekly. The Everton forward, who hit the target in 1977-78, assesses the chances of a striker beating that tally nowadays.

MW: Do you agree that a points-for-goals system would lead to more entertaining football . . . and hence more goals for strikers?

BOB: You have to be careful on this one. You could get to a stage where you'd need to be a mathematician to work out where you stood in the League.

I do think that one extra point for any side scoring more than three goals in a match would liven things up.

MW: Who do you think is the striker most likely — if any — to score 30 goals this season?

BOB: That's a difficult one. I could take the easy way out and say Kenny Dalglish, Paul Mariner or Justin Fashanu — but it's impossible to predict.

It could be a complete unknown hitting a scoring streak or even an older professional who drops down a division or two and finds life easier.

PAUL MARINER of Ipswich — one of the favourites to break the 30 league goals in a season barrier.

DUXBURY

MANCHESTER UNITED'S awful run of injuries this season has been just the tonic for young Mike Duxbury.

With so many established players out of action at one time or another, Mike has been able to command a regular first-team place.

And after three and a half years in the reserves the 21-year-old's First Division displays this season have already earmarked him as a future England player.

Indeed, with just a handful of games under his belt, Mike has already made his international debut.

He came on as substitute for the England Under-21 side in their recent game against Switzerland at Portman Road, Ipswich.

"Everything has happened so quickly," said Mike, a versatile player who has turned out in the centre of defence, right back, and in midfield for United this season.

"I've been concentrating on keeping my place in the United side — the England call-up came as a complete surprise."

Mike's debut in a first-team shirt was at St Andrews when he came on for the injured Kevin Moran during United's 0-0 draw with Birmingham.

But his first full game was one he will never forget — in front of over 55,000 fans for United's derby game with Manchester City.

"It was a tremendous feeling going out there in front of so many fans," said Mike.

With injuries to players like Martin Buchan, Ray Wilkins, Gordon McQueen and Kevin Moran, Mike has been asked to play a variety of different roles, but he says:

"I don't mind where I play as long as I get a game."

"I joined United straight from school as a sweeper — but my favourite position is midfield. I enjoy the involvement in the middle of the park."

"It's quite an adjustment from the reserves to the First Division and it took me about ten games to get used to the pace."

"Everything happens a lot faster and you don't get any time to dwell on the ball," added Mike.

JIMMY NICHOLL

TACKLE A STAR

My great moments in football

PETER BANKS,

from Sale, Cheshire . . .

WHAT is the most memorable moment of your football career?

JIMMY: That's a difficult one, Peter, because there are two moments that really stand out. One for Manchester United and the other for Northern Ireland.

Although winning the FA Cup Final against Liverpool in 1976-77 was really special, I must go for the FA Cup semi-final against Liverpool at Goodison Park in 1979.

We drew 2-2 at Maine Road and the odds looked stacked against us in the replay on Merseyside at Everton's Goodison Park.

I'll never forget the moment Jimmy Greenhoff put away the winner. We were at Wembley and it was a marvellous feeling.

Northern Ireland winning the Home International Championship is another moment I won't forget in a hurry.

PHIL SOMMERS,

from Lisburn, Northern Ireland . . .

HOW do you rate Northern Ireland's chances of qualifying for the World Cup Finals in Spain?

JIMMY: Well Phil, we won't get a better chance to qualify than we have now.

Winning the home Internationals has given our confidence a great boost and I believe that we can make it to Spain.

ANNE WEI,

from Cambridge . . .

WHO do you room with when United travel away and does he approve of your musical tastes?

JIMMY: Sammy McIlroy is my room-mate at United and when I go away with Northern Ireland I share a room with Derek Spence.

I don't think Sammy minds my musical tastes — at least he hasn't told me so!

I enjoy various types of music but really enjoy listening to soul music and Rod Stewart.

ANTHONY ROBBINS,

of Hebburn, Tyne and Wear

WHAT are your hobbies, and how do you relax after a game?

JIMMY: Like many players at Manchester United I am a great golf fan. I play as often as I can and usually go with Arthur Albiston or Paddy Roche.

I also enjoy a game of snooker. My Northern Ireland and United team-mate Sammy McIlroy plays the game and we have some good matches against each other.

Straight after a match I have a few drinks with my team-mates and then head for home.

If it is a Saturday game I usually go out with Sammy McIlroy, his wife and a couple of friends for a meal.

OLIVER SIMPKISS,

from Knutsford, Cheshire . . .

WHAT are your ambitions in the game and what do you want to do when you retire?

JIMMY: The League Championship has to be my main aim, Oliver — I would love to win that medal with Manchester United.

On the International scene I want to be a member of the Northern Ireland team that goes to Spain for the 1982 World Cup Finals.

Before I was married I used to take boys (in the ten to 12 years age group) training. I got a taste for that kind of work and have considered going into coaching when I retire.

Guest columnist
this week is new Manchester City striker . . .

PHIL BOYER

Phil Boyer (7) scoring his first goal for Manchester City in his new team's 2-1 defeat against Spurs at White Hart Lane. City's Paul Power (left) and Spurs' Glenn Hoddle look on.

PHIL Boyer would have walked all the way from Southampton to Manchester City to team up with John Bond for the third time.

The England striker is the City manager's number one fan, so it was no surprise when the relationship was renewed last month after a three-year break.

Phil, who played under Bond at Bournemouth and Norwich, owes everything to the new City boss as he explains:

"When I was at Bournemouth he spent hours and hours coaching myself and Ted MacDougall. He's a tremendous coach and a great motivator and there is no doubt that he has been the biggest influence on my career."

Phil, the First Division's leading goalscorer last season with 23 League goals, asked for a transfer from Southampton just a few days before Bond took over at Maine Road.

And when his former boss came in with an offer he had no hesitation in accepting.

"I had three enjoyable seasons at Southampton during which I was the club's top scorer every season, but I arrived at the stage where I wanted a change.

"In fact, I've never spent more than three years at a club so I must get some kind of three-year itch.

"My only regret this season was that I didn't play many matches with Kevin Keegan, but injuries hit Southampton hard after a blistering start."

There was plenty of advice floating around The Dell from team mates Mike Channon and Dave Watson who tasted life in the big city.

"They both enjoyed their spells with Manchester City, although I didn't need any convincing. Mike didn't stay too long, but that was down to a frosty relationship with Malcolm Allison.

"There's no doubt that City are a big club and the atmosphere when I played in the League Cup against West Bromwich Albion was tremendous. The crowd really got behind the team.

"But I've really got to keep working hard because with so many good players around there is no guarantee of a first team place."

Now Phil finds himself just two matches away from a Wembley final.

"Obviously it's important that we continue our climb away from the relegation area, but a League Cup final place would be a real bonus."

MACKENZIE

STEVE Mackenzie had not played a first team game when Manchester City forked out £250,000 for his services.

At 17 years of age he was just one of a number of "controversial" signings made by City's manager at the time, Malcolm Allison.

While he played in City's first 14 League games last season he fell out of favour and played in just three more full matches.

This season however, under new manager John Bond, Steve is enjoying life once more and playing a prominent part in City's revival.

And on Saturday he has the chance to show his former boss just how well he's progressing at first hand.

Steve's old club Crystal Palace — now once more under the guidance of Malcolm Allison — are City's opponents in the Third Round.

Manchester City's Steve Mackenzie — out to sink the club that set him on the road to stardom.

And the 19-year-old midfielder admits: "I was highly delighted when I heard we were playing Palace. I thought it was a great draw.

"But I'll simply be treating it as just another game we want to win on the road to Wembley.

"I'm really enjoying my football now. We are getting a lot more players into the box and the manager has made us a more direct and positive team.

"The new lads he has brought in, like Gerry Gow and Tommy Hutchison, have given us a bit of stability and I have more of an attacking role."

It was attacking football that brought City a 3-2 victory over Palace in the League at Selhurst Park earlier this season.

But I can't see them achieving quite such an easy victory as they did when they last met Palace in the Cup . . .

In 1926 they beat the Londoners 11-4!

STOKE v WOLVES: Wolves have an amazingly good record against Stoke. They've met five times and the Wanderers have won each time . . . including a 2-0 victory in 1908 when they went on to win the cup.

Blackhall goes home

SHEFFIELD Wednesday defender Roy Blackhall goes back to the club that gave him his start in football on Saturday . . . bidding to help dump them out of the F.A. Cup.

Ray, who made 37 League appearances for Newcastle before moving south to Hillsborough, has a tough job on his hands however.

The Magpies may have struggled to re-capture the form that took them to the verge of promotion last season, but the magic of the cup and the backing of their vocal fans should lift them to victory.

The two sides have met five times before in the competition and Newcastle's record is: won four, lost one.

But Wednesday's only win did come in the most recent tie (in 1966) and it was away from home . . .

Derby massacre

MEMORIES of a massacre will be in the minds of Derby fans when their team takes to the field against Bristol City on Saturday.

The two teams met in the Third Round last season and City smashed Derby 6-2 with goals from Garland (2), Pritchard (2), Whitehead and Mann.

Close for County

PROMOTION rivals Notts County and Blackburn Rovers look set to provide a close encounter of the Second Division kind on Saturday.

County have faded slightly after a storming start but are still right in the running.

Blackburn have surprised a few people by staying in contact with the leaders.

I'm going for a draw, but in the three past meetings between these two teams there has always been a result.

In 1891 Blackburn won 3-1 in the final, in 1894 County won 1-0 and in 1909 Rovers won 1-0.

UNITED ARE THE CUP KINGS

MANCHESTER United's post-war record in the F.A. Cup is the best of all current First Division clubs.

United have played 155 ties, won 86, lost 32 and drawn 37.

And Old Trafford fans will be delighted to know that on the one and only previous occasion United opposed Brighton in the cup they won 1-0 and went on to win the trophy!

Alright, that was in 1909, but the Red Devils should have little trouble in overcoming Brighton on Saturday.

LITTLE Altrincham saved my bacon when they beat Scunthorpe in the second round.

My predictions weren't looking too good until the non-League side popped up to beat their League opponents . . . just as I said they would.

I forecast a 0-0 draw at Scunthorpe with Altrincham winning the replay and I was bang on the button.

And here's the proof to upset all my critics . . . and there are plenty of you!

DING DONG AT THE DELL

SOUTHAMPTON and Chelsea should provide a ding-dong game down at the Dell.

Saints are always hungry for goals at home and usually satisfy their appetite.

Chelsea meanwhile are one of the top scoring teams away from home this season.

On past form Southampton shouldn't have too much trouble against their second division opponents . . .

Chelsea have never scored against the Saints — let alone beaten them!

Yet there have been three previous meetings: in 1923 when Southampton won 1-0; in 1924 when they won 2-0 and in 1977 when they won 3-0 (at Stamford Bridge).

Despite that I believe Chelsea can finally break their duck against Southampton on Saturday . . . and better still, win the tie.

Chelsea's top scorer Colin Lee admits his side will probably go to the Dell as "underdogs", but says: "We didn't think it was such a bad draw when we heard it but it's sure to be a tough game."

"It would be nice to bring them back to Stamford Bridge."

"We thought it would be better to be drawn against a First Division side rather than someone from the Third or Fourth because at least it means a big crowd."

"Midfielder Graham Baker looks a really good player for his age and I like their right back, Ivan Golac."

I'M Anthony Hawkswell and I'm in charge of the Outraged column.

I'll stand no nonsense... any back chat and you could get sent off!

I'll be giving the red card to what I judge to be the letter of the week. And yellow cards to any others published.

And to make it more interesting I'll pay £5 for the red card and £2 for each yellow card.

But be warned. I'm the ref and my decisions stand!

Send your letters to Outraged, Match Weekly, Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough.

England so boring

I AM outraged at England's tactics when they are winning — they are boring and dull.

Take the recent game against Sweden for example. When England were winning they became very defensive.

I think somebody like Brian Clough should be in charge — he would change them into an attacking, exciting side.

I think England are one of the most boring side's in the world — argue with that if you can!

James Parker (13), Hove Edge, Brighouse, West Yorks.

● I'M not going to argue — you've got the red card.

How can I take your letter seriously when you can't tell the difference between Switzerland and Sweden. The last time we played Sweden was in June 1979. We drew 0-0. England's last game was the 2-1 defeat of SWITZERLAND.

Bond takes the glory

I FEEL very sorry for Crystal Palace manager Malcolm Allison.

He built up a good team at Maine Road but now John Bond is taking all the glory for Manchester City's improved form.

Are the players trying especially hard for Bond because I can't see that a couple of weeks can make all that difference to a team's form.

Michael Bastock (11), Ipswich.

You're in the book! £2

● DON'T forget that John Bond has cemented together the nucleus of a good side by buying Gerry Gow, Tommy Hutchison, Bobby MacDonald, and Phil Boyer. You're booked for trying to take the credit away from John.

Brown's my choice

I AM outraged that Ron Greenwood does not pick Huddersfield's Malcolm Brown for England.

He is much better than Liverpool's Phil Neal and would do a great job for his country.

Huddersfield recently rejected a big offer from Sunderland for his services and now Liverpool are reputed to be interested.

Bob Paisley obviously thinks he's better than Neal.

R. Boothroyd, Birchencliffe, Huddersfield, Yorks.

You're in the book! £2

Salute Billy the great

I THINK Billy Bonds is the most complete defender in the Second Division.

He is playing some of the best football of his career this season and is one of the main forces behind 'the Hammers' promotion push this season.

He leads by example and always gives 100 per cent effort — I rate him as one of West Ham's all time greats.

Paul Gibbs, Guildford, Surrey.

Give Glenn a run

SPURS midfield star Glenn Hoddle must be in danger of getting splinters in his backside judging by the amount of times England manager Ron Greenwood has kept him on the substitute's bench.

I am angry at the way Ron has continued to ignore his talents and am fed up of hearing the manager say Glenn will get his chance.

Wakey, wakey Ron — give Glenn a run!

Steve Blyth, London E5.

BIG MAL

YOUR VIEWS ON THE PALACE MANAGER

LOVE HIM or hate him — you can't ignore Malcolm Allison. And his recent appointment as manager of Crystal Palace has really got you talking. Here are just two of your letters on 'Big Mal'.

They must be mad

CRYSTAL Palace directors must be mad to appoint Malcolm Allison.

It amazes me how they can come to such a decision after he took them from the First Division to the Third in his last spell as manager at Selhurst Park.

I just dread to think what he'll do this time.

Richard Usher, Millom, Cumbria.

Give him time

I WAS angry to hear everybody criticise Malcolm Allison following Crystal Palace's 3-0 defeat by Nottingham Forest.

I don't think there's a manager in the world who can transform a team at the bottom of the First Division into a side of world beaters in the space of a couple of days.

It will take him a few weeks to get things sorted out at Selhurst Park.

John Dobson (13), Backwell, Avon.

Don't let the hugging stop!

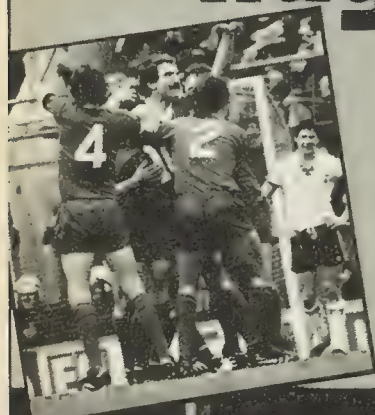

I AM sick and tired of hearing people complain about players who hug each other when a goal has been scored.

I can't see what the Football Association are making such a fuss about — it's not a crime.

What are the players meant to do? Walk around as if nothing has happened. That would be really boring.

Hugging is the natural reaction of the fans when their team scores and no one complains about that. Why should the players be any different?

Karen Thomas, Pont, Oswestry, Salop.

All you have to do is send in a drawing of your favourite player together with a short letter telling us why you think he deserves a place in the Match Weekly star gallery.

If you want your drawing returned send a stamped, addressed envelope.

THIRTEEN-year-old Noel Power of West Hampstead, London, N.W.6, drew this picture of Alan Sunderland and says of the Arsenal striker:

"I chose Alan because he was the player who scored the winning goal in the 1979 FA Cup Final against Manchester United and he forms a striking partnership to fear with Frank Stapleton."

Above: This smashing drawing of Ipswich and Scotland star John Wark was sent in by 11-year-old David Wilkinson of Nottingham. He says of John: "He is a good prospect for the future because he has scored many goals this season for his team."

RAYMOND Dzukowski (17) of Ilford, Essex, drew this dramatic picture of England skipper and Match columnist Kevin Keegan and says of the Southampton player: "I drew Kevin wearing an England shirt because of his beautiful goal against the Republic of Ireland in 1979. What a great player to have around."

LAST GASP

THERE'S a general belief in football that League champions Liverpool are at their most dangerous in the closing stages of a match.

They appear to possess the ability to strike when least expected, making profit from tired limbs, weary minds and losses of concentration.

Their Scottish star Kenny Dalglish, a player who has pulled several matches out of the fire at the death, passes it over as pure chance.

Coincidence it may be but our survey of Liverpool's League results at the halfway stage shows that almost a third of their 44 goals arrived in the last 15 minutes.

Kenny himself snatched a last minute winner to topple title rivals Aston Villa, and in the previous game at Anfield, England's David Johnson struck ten minutes from the end to sink Coventry.

But Kenny doesn't believe there's any secret: "A game lasts 90 minutes and we try and score goals whenever we can.

"We don't go out and purposely wait for the last few minutes. At Liverpool we regard any time as a good time to score a goal and if it comes in the last few minutes that's OK as long as we've scored four before it!"

But there have been several occasions when Liverpool have produced two hammer blows in the last 15 minutes.

Kenny and Terry McDermott popped in a couple during the final minutes in the 4-2 defeat of Middlesbrough and Terry teamed up with David Fairclough to sink Brighton with late goals.

And young Sammy Lee produced two telling goals in the 4-2 win at Sunderland, one of which was named BBC 'Goal of the Month'.

Is it that Liverpool are fitter than other teams? "I don't think so," says Kenny. "But we do make sure we are playing as strongly in the last minute as we did in the first.

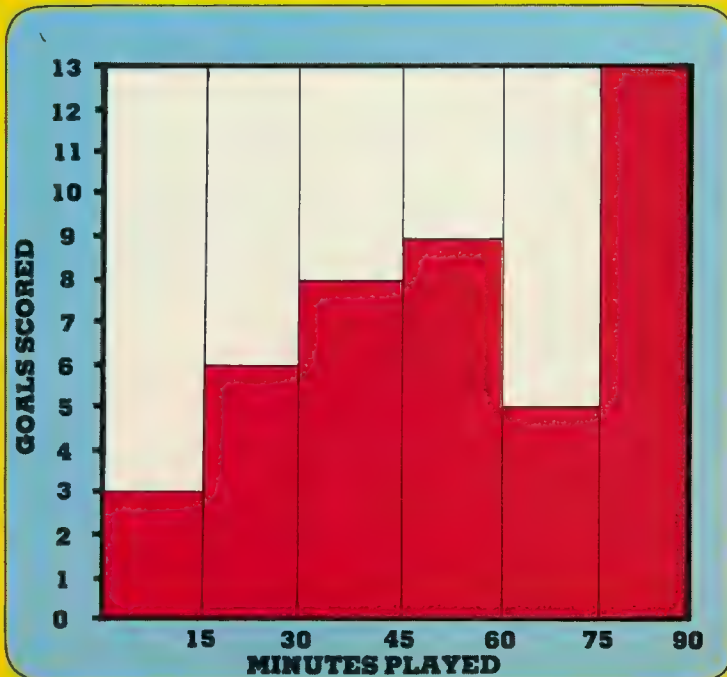

"As far as I can see, there's no great mystery.

"We just go out and play . . . but you can bet if there was a secret to it, we wouldn't tell anyway."

Above: England striker David Johnson, in action here against Ipswich, shattered Coventry with a late winner.

Top: Alan Hansen, Terry McDermott and Kenny Dalglish celebrate a Graeme Souness goal grabbed against Manchester City.

LIVERPOOL!

What's the secret of their late goal rush?

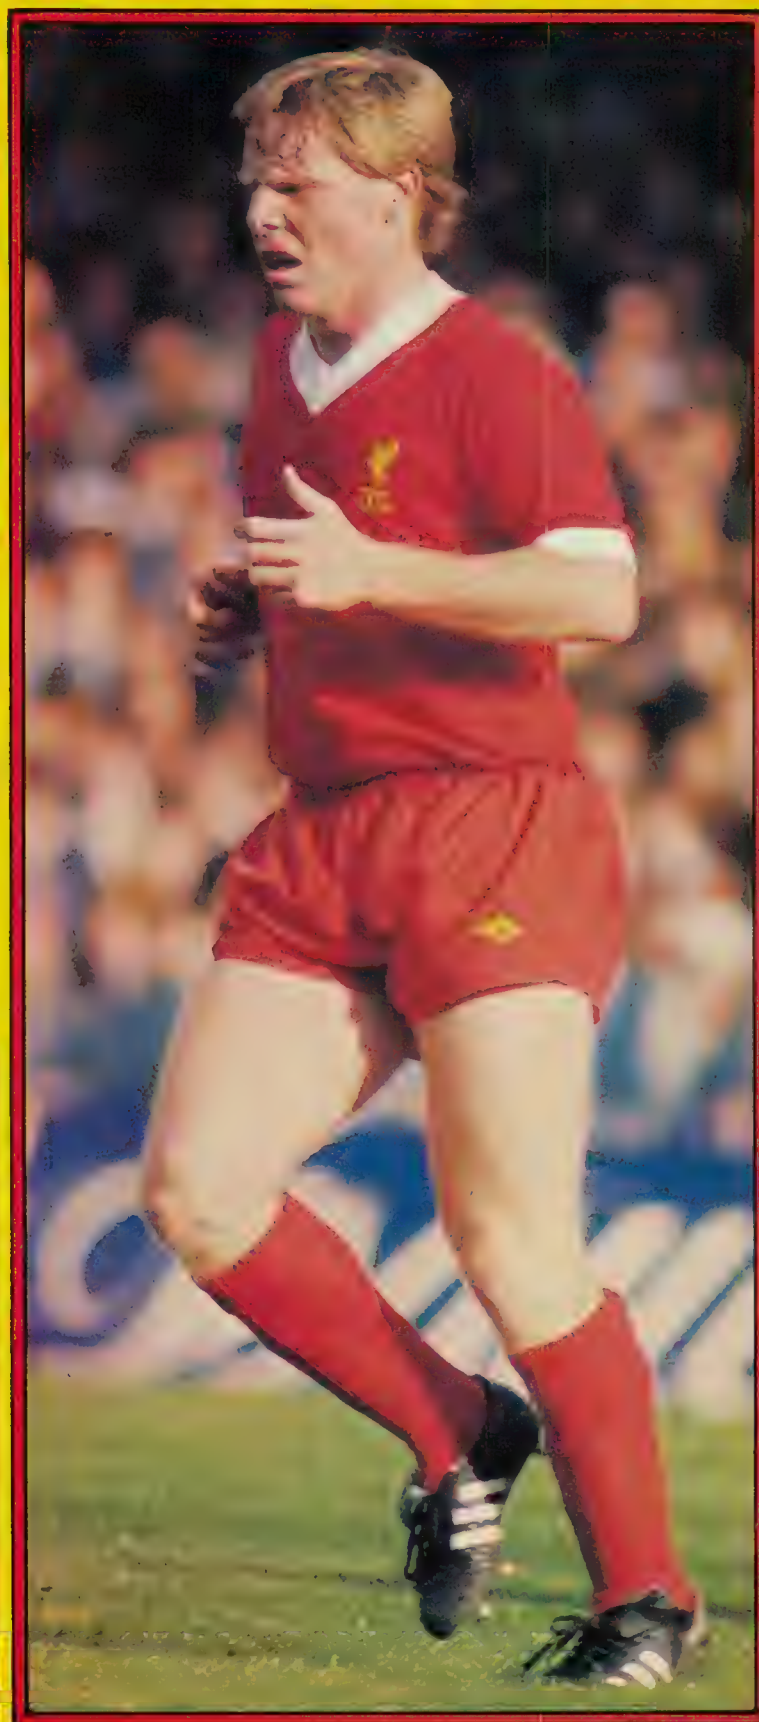

Left: "Super Sub" David Fairclough is noted for his last gasp goals — as Brighton will testify this season when he snatched a late goal.

Right: Sammy Lee . . . two late goals in two minutes crushed Sunderland.

The chart below shows the goalscorers and times of Liverpool's goals in the first half of the season. Below left: the graph indicates the number of goals scored by Liverpool in 15 minute periods, notably 13 coming in the last 15 minutes of a match.

I can't explain that Wembley feeling

MANCHESTER United's record in the FA Cup in recent years is second only to that of Arsenal.

And we'll be looking to keep up our fine tradition in the competition when we open our FA Cup account for the first time this season at Old T. on Saturday.

The cup always gets players going at United.

I'll never forget our two semi-final matches against Liverpool in 1979.

We drew the first game 2-2 at Maine Road and went on to beat them 1-0 in the replay at Goodison Park.

I can't begin to explain how great it felt when we knew we'd made it to Wembley.

Of course, it's history now that we went on to lose to Arsenal in an amazing final.

I was really sick for weeks afterwards but it taught me to accept defeat at the highest level.

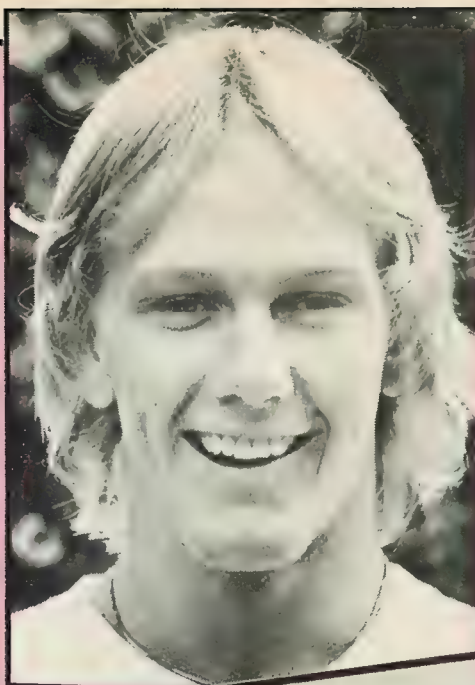

After the disappointment of that defeat I was determined to prove myself in the season to follow and I'm sure it has helped my long term future.

Amazingly our opponents in the third round on Saturday are Brighton . . . the team we are scheduled to play in the League the following week!

We were pleased enough with the draw. Brighton are not a team that put any fear in our hearts.

As far as the fans are concerned the game will be all about the return to Old Trafford of Andy Ritchie.

Andy was a blue-eyed boy when he left United to join the 'Seagulls' and he's sure to be going hell for leather to do well.

The GARY BAILEY column

Right: Andy Ritchie in action against Arsenal — he scored Brighton's goal when we beat them 4-1 in the League at the Goldstone Ground.

Tommy's piece of magic

PEOPLE who make a living out of football are a superstitious lot.

Take our first away victory of the season at Nottingham Forest.

Everyone knows that the 2-1 scoreline was a direct result of what happened during our 90 minutes on the pitch.

What no-one outside Old Trafford knows — at least up until now — is that Tommy Cavanagh, United's assistant manager, had worked his own piece of magic before the match kicked off.

Normally the players shirts are hung up in numerical order (1-12) going clockwise round the dressing room.

But on this occasion Tommy hung up the shirts with the numbers going anti-clockwise to bring us a change of luck.

It worked and you can bet that next time we play at the City Ground the 'winning' system will be used again!

Even international football is not beyond superstitions . . .

It is an unwritten law that players must never put their boots on a table.

I was pulled up by West Brom's Gary Owen for doing just that when I boarded the team coach one day after training on an England Under-21 trip.

ON RELIGIOUS grounds, current Swindon goalkeeper Jimmy ALLAN exercised his right, in January 1974, not to play for his club against Bolton Wanderers in a Sunday Second Division game.

FORMER Port Vale, West Brom and Palace striker Ronnie ALLEN, father of current Mansfield striker

Russell, was the only player to turn out in the Football League in all the first 19 post war seasons from 1946-47 to 1964-65 inclusive.

THE FIRST club, alphabetically, among all the 100-plus that have played in the Football League, was ABERDARE ATHLETIC who were in the Third Division (South) for six seasons in the twenties. Previously Arsenal had been first alphabetically and when Aberdare dropped out ACCRINGTON Stanley became number one. The No. 1 current League player alphabetically is Swindon's Liverpool-born reserve Steve ABBLEY.
